

"What the Heck is a Green Collar Job?... Preparing for Green Career Opportunities."

February 10, 2012 (6:00 – 7:30pm)

Upon successful completion of this informational workshop, you will be able to identify and better define green industry jobs, determine how to pursue, prepare for and transition to professions in these fields, identify the educational requirements, accreditations and certifications that will lead to entry into green industry careers, and utilize green job boards, green networking groups and creative methods for getting your foot in the door of green organizations.

Who Should Attend:

Anyone interested in learning more about and transitioning to exciting careers in green industries.

Topics:

Green Jobs: Much more than Solar Installation!
Definition of Green Jobs
Sample of "Hot" Green Jobs, "Hot" Green Job Cities
Specific job titles within each green industry
Preparing for green jobs: research, education program, accreditations and certifications
Creative green job search techniques

Instructor:

Stella Ursua - President-North American School of Green Technology; Founder – Southern California Green Economic Council; President – Alliance for Sustainable Action Partnerships

Takeaways:

Green Jobs Guide

When? February 10, 2012, 6-7:30pm

Where? The Center Long Beach, 2017 E. 4th Street Long Beach, CA 90814, (562) 434-4455

THIS SESSION IS ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE!

For more info, please contact Stella at stellarorgdevelopment@gmail.com .