The Long Beach LGBTQ Center Joins National Campaign to

Shape the Future of LGBTQ Community

Our Tomorrow campaign invites LGBTQ people everywhere to share their hopes, fears and ideas for the future

The Center Long Beach has teamed up with Our Tomorrow (www.shareourtomorrow.org) - a grassroots and digital campaign to engage LGBTQ people across the country in a conversation about their hopes, fears and ideas for the future of the movement.

This is a historic moment for our movement. We've made a lot of progress on important issues like marriage equality, but we still have a long way to go. Our Tomorrow is an opportunity for each of us to make our voices heard in a national conversation about the future of the LGBTQ movement.

The Our Tomorrow campaign invites anyone interested in participating to visit www.shareourtomorrow.org and share their hopes, fears and ideas. Posts will be featured on the Our Tomorrow website, where anyone interested in the future of the movement can learn about issues on the minds of LGBTQ people across the country.

"Our Tomorrow represents the first time a major social movement has initiated a national public dialogue to generate inspiration, information and ideas for its future," said Our Tomorrow campaign manager Lee Swislow. "This conversation will help create a shared, movement-wide vision for a bigger, bolder, more inclusive movement that speaks to the hopes and needs of the full diversity of the LGBTQ community."

Insights and ideas from Our Tomorrow will also be shared with more than 70 nonprofit organizations and foundations that have sponsored the campaign. To see a full list of Our Tomorrow partners, visit www.shareourtomorrow.org/partners .
